Dear Ms. Gebhart:

ILD043364496 - 2, TR, PA

This letter is submitted per your request in a conversation relating to our Illinois generator number.

Our company, America OTR, was formerly Firestone Tire and Rubber Company. On October 2, 1987, it was changed to America OTR with Firestone selling the plant to America OTR.

The Illinois generator number, which Firestone had, was #1130900008. It is my understanding from our conversation that this same number can be used by America OTR. It was also my understanding that there is no expiration date on the Illinois generator number.

As I stated to you, we are a conditionally exempt small quantity generator.

Please forward your confirming approval regarding the Illinois generator number.

Thank you.

Respectfully,

Gene Semple

Dear Mr. Anand:

The subject hazardous waste storage facility was inspected by a representative of this Agency on February 16, 1983. The inspection revealed that the site was closed in accordance with the approved closure plan dated December, 1982.

Certification that the site had been closed in accordance with the approved closure plan by the owner/operator, Firestone Tire and Rubber Company, and an independent registered professional engineer of Illinois, Roger J. Breitenfield, was received at this Agency May 17, 1983, and April 4, 1983 respectively.

Therefore, this Agency concurs that the hazardous waste storage site at Firestone Tire and Rubber Company, Normal is closed in accordance with the referenced closure plans and in accordance with the Interim Status Standards, Ill. Admin. Code, Part 725 (40 CFR, Part 265).

Very truly yours,
